

Reply ID: mwing

Yo Paul, welcome to the study! Yeah, really.
"Tell Me What's A Black Life Worth" is a lyric quote from slain rapper Tupac Shakur. So Scrappy Dog was nodding his head to the rhythm of my delivery. So, now, one Latino killing one black teenager, OR 7,000 blacks killing each other, Iraq or Afghanistan, prison yards, OR where ever, it's all foul. Please don't check us, then imply what Zimmerman did was no biggie. For clarity, I'm no fan of Al Sharpton, OR Jesse Jackson, we view them as re-actors to injustice, not preventors of it, They never showed up in our hoods to lace our generation about the new ways that our self-destructive behavior can now be used to justify so-called legal murder, under the umbrella of "punishment" OR equal punishment, You see them with children, NEVER WITH OUR GENERATION WHERE WE ROAM. I myself, was a, as you say, "race-baiter", until I saw young Asians, Pacific Islanders, lil white boys, Jews, Latinos and Native American boys being sent to deathrow for "Street Level" accusations. I no longer see Scrappy as my enemy, I will NOT cause his death. So when we say "A New Generation" we are including all of us because there is only one group of people described in Special Circumstance #22, "Criminal Street Gang members" and 100% of that category is American Inner City Youth, at first glance, until everybody else saw Trayvon Martin. As far as racist of any kind goes, My disposition will remain "fuck em", because a majority of inner-city self-destructive behavior is also based on racist ideologies on the streets and in prisons and Juvenile Detention Centers, OUR New Generation are moving away from those ideologies, and whether or not God helps us is not our focus, OUR focus is doing what we can to keep as many of our next generation off of deathrow, You sound interested in solution based ideas. Welcome, bring it!
Thank you for engaging us, this is not a debate!

— XZY25T mwing