Dear Sister Michelle:

Friend and Comrade, it is said that whatever brings one joy can also bring sorrow. This is why it brings me so much joy to again hear from you, to know that my prayers have been answered and that you are among the living. It is also always why you were moved to the reunitant.

I never once thought that you had turned from me, I always took into account that you may have had to be rehospitalized; I understood that then and understood that it can happen again - at anytime. I thank Almighty that He moved you to recontact me.

As you can see I am still at the same address. Much has happened since we last communicated. I also have some questions about some things you mentioned in your recent comment and I also want to explain to you what has occurred in my life over the past 18 months, such as for one I lost my lawsuit, but there's a back story to all which I'll tell you via letter so there's more privacy.

It's good that you are back on speaking terms with Kaya. I sent a letter to your mother asking her of your welfare and whereabouts; this was about 12 to 14 months ago but the letter was returned to me saying that the party [your mother] no longer lived at that address in Perth.

My health is fine and I am still holding up and maintaining at this end, thanks, in part, to your help;
although these officials here are still very much up to the same old shenanigans . . .

Send me your address and if you don't hear from me
in short order by mail, then please send me another blog message because I'm not sure whether it and to what degree these officials will interfere with our communications.

You are a Dear friend; don't allow anything to delude you otherwise. I await until I next hear from
you. May ALLAH continue to keep you.

With Love & Peace,

I remain

John Row
