Greetings Camille
and all who follow my blog.
To the left is my new mailing address: our prison just changed it, giving us two weeks to tell those who write us. Crazy! But, any mail received here after 1st of June must arrive at this new address or it will be returned to sender.

That's the main reason for this letter.

If you mail me anything, it must go to my above address.

Many of us filed grievances about this sudden change — the warden replied to me that it's the post office's fault, but the post office didn't cancel P.O. Box 9900, our warden or his flunky did.

Because I backed off from helping other prisoners litigate, I have more free time, so you will see, within 2-3 weeks, my essay on consciousness's material — not spiritual — basis.
I'll try to use common language so more people understand my explanation.

For those who wish to help me (remember, I have no outside support, no family, no friends — the neurology professor I thought I connected with, who assured me we connected, promised to write monthly, etc., either has Alzheimer's disease or... something, cause it's been 3 months no hear), please do so by purchasing postage-embossed envelopes and typing/blank paper from www.JLMarcusWisconsin.com — don't order me anything else, like pens, because I probably can't have it and it will be destroyed. Such orders must be sent to me at

— but mail to this address I won't receive.
